degree and fifteen master's degrees on women through the Extension Division, the precursor of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, the Evening College, and the Summer Session. By 1970 all undergraduate programs had become coeducational. Today women students comprise more than half of the University's enrollment.

In 1996 the Evening College became the College of Advancing Studies, offering a master's degree as well as the bachelor's degree. The university's longest presidency, 24 years, came to an end when Father J. Donald Monan became chancellor and was succeeded in the presidency by Father William P. Leahy.

In 1997, Father Leahy announced the implementation plan for Advancing the Legacy, BC's $260 million five year investment to strengthen education, reaffirm its Jesuit and Catholic mission, increase research and improve the quality of student life.

Cardinal Carlo Maria Martini, SJ, of Milan made in February the first visit by a Jesuit cardinal to Boston College in 35 years. Rev. Finally, Boston College mourned the passing of University Historian Charles Donovan, SJ, who served as founding dean of the School of Education and authored the History of Boston College.

* This chart includes each declared major. Students with double or triple majors are therefore counted two and three times. Thus, adding the numbers in a column does not produce accurate enrollment totals. Students in the College of Advancing Studies are not included in this table.

 Separate totals for French, Italian, and Spanish are not available for Fall 1987.

¹This statistic includes estimated regular university scholarships and grants (through the operating budget), faculty kin tuition remission, athletic grants, Jesuit Reduction, Alumni Association Scholarships, and endowed monies for scholarships.

²State scholarship funds to students from Massachusetts, Vermont, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Maine, New Hampshire; Gilbert Grants; and Herter Scholarships.

³Pell Grant eligibility is determined directly by the federal government.

⁴These loan funds (formerly called "National Direct Student Loans") are obtained by federal government contributions, Boston College contributions, and collections of previous loans awarded.

⁵This is a duplicated total since some students receive more than one type of aid.

Important Note: The above data do not include Boston College student assistance for graduate and professional students (approximately $13.03 million in tuition remission, grants, or scholarships and $10.28 million in stipends during 1997-98) administered by the various schools and departments. Also, excluded are the Nursing Loan Program ($317,450 during 1997-98), a variety of grants and scholarships from fraternal organizations and clubs ($3,379,175 during 1997-98), and loans processed by the Financial Aid Office ($67,407,035 during 1997-98) for undergraduate students, graduate students, or their parents.

Special Library Services

Quest – Library Information System

The Quest system includes BCAT, the Boston College Online Catalog, which provides access to approximately 5.2 million items including books, media materials, microforms, newspapers, and periodicals. BCAT may be searched by author, title, call number, subject, or keyword from workstations throughout the libraries or from remote locations, both on and off campus. FACP is a database of publications by current BC faculty. A separate file, NEWT, lists items recently cataloged for the collection. A major attraction within Quest is LIST, which links to over 25 periodical indexes covering a wide range of disciplines. Rounding out the Quest offerings are two major bibliographic databases, WCAT and RLIN. WCAT, or WorldCat, is the OCLC union catalog containing more than 30 million records of items located in OCLC member libraries. OCLC can be used by researchers to locate materials in other libraries around the world. RLIN is a union catalog of nearly 88 million items held in comprehensive research, special, and some corporate libraries. Quest may be searched through a World Wide Web interface, accessible from the Libraries' home page (<http://www.bc.edu/libraries.html>).

Computer Searching

A growing number of general and specific databases are available for searching via the Web. A complete listing of all online databases available through the libraries can be found by clicking on Online Databases from the Libraries' home page (<http://www.bc.edu/libraries.html>). The list includes both subject groupings and an alphabetical listing by title along with a designation for full text databases. Many of the databases may then be launched directly through a hot link. All other listings provide information explaining exactly where to access the database, usually in the Electronic Information Center in the O'Neill Library or the Law Library. Databases range in coverage from very general to very specific and cover a wide range of research topics in the humanities, social sciences, sciences, health science, business, law, and public affairs. A few databases must still be accessed from dedicated workstations in the library, but most are now available through the university's computer network delivering the databases directly to the researcher's desktop.

The librarians offer training classes in how to search databases effectively, by arrangement with professors, and also provide individual coaching at various library service points or by appointment.

Researchers who cannot locate resources they need through the materials available to them through the libraries may contact a librarian to develop a search strategy to locate relevant information.

Finally, the libraries facilitate access to many computerized numeric databases in business, economics, and the social sciences on magnetic tape. Contact the O'Neill Reference Desk (refer@bc.edu) or one of the special libraries for more information about these services, or to arrange demonstrations, workshops, and classroom presentations.

Interlibrary Loan

The Interlibrary Loan Service is offered to students, faculty, administrators, and staff to obtain materials not available in the Boston College Libraries. Books, photocopies of journal articles, microfilm, theses, and government documents may be borrowed from other libraries. Except for unusual items, the waiting period is from one to four weeks; for anyone willing to use the material at the holding library, a computerized system at the reference desk will provide locations. Requests can be made by using electronic forms available on the Libraries' web site or by visiting a library.

Academic Development Center

The Academic Development Center (ADC) exists to support and enhance all aspects of academic excellence by helping undergraduates, graduate students, and faculty improve learning quality and teaching effectiveness. The ADC, which opened its doors in September 1991, is located on the second floor of O'Neill Library in the Eileen M. and John M. Connors, Jr. Learning Center.

The ADC is a comprehensive, inclusive resource serving all of the University's students and faculty. To address the needs of the great majority of Boston College students, the Center provides tutoring for more than 60 courses, including calculus, statistics, biology, chemistry, nursing, accounting, and classical and foreign languages. In addition, graduate students in English serve as writing tutors. (All ADC tutors are recommended and approved by their relevant academic departments; most are graduate students, juniors, or seniors.)

The Center offers programs designed to challenge the most academically talented, highest achieving students — as well as programs designed to support those who are least prepared and most at risk.

of academic life at Boston College.

The Language Laboratory

The Boston College Language Laboratory, serving all the language departments, students of English as a foreign language, and the Boston College community at large, is located in Lyons 313. In addition to its 32 state-of-the-art listening/recording stations and teacher console (installed in Summer 1998), the facility includes video viewing rooms, multimedia-equipped Macintosh workstations, and a CD listening station. The Lab's audio and videotape/laserdisc collection, computer software, other audiovisual learning aids, and print materials including mono- and bilingual dictionaries, as well as laboratory manuals for elementary through advanced language courses, directly support and/or supplement the curriculum requirements in international language, literature, and music. The Lab's collection is designed to assist users in the acquisition and maintenance of aural comprehension, oral and written proficiency, and cultural awareness. Prominent among the Lab's offerings that directly address these goals are international news broadcasts and other television programming available through the Boston College cable television network and made accessible to Lab users via EagleNET connections and/or via videotaped off-air recordings. These live or near-live broadcasts from around the world provide a timely resource for linguistic and cultural information in a wide variety of languages. Students (undergraduate and graduate), faculty, and BC community members who wish to use the Language Laboratory facility and its collection will find the Laboratory staff available during the day, in the evening, and on weekends to assist them in the operation of equipment and in the selection of appropriate materials for their course-related or personal language needs.

The Charles S. and Isabella V. McMullen Museum of Art aims to increase understanding of the visual arts, to encourage inquiry, and to enrich learning through the display of a notable permanent collection and special exhibitions of international importance. The Museum occupies two floors of Devlin Hall. Spacious galleries with movable walls provide flexible exhibition spaces that rival venues in larger museums.

Begun in the nineteenth century, the University's permanent collection contains masterpieces that span the history of art from Europe, Asia, and the Americas. Outstanding among them are Gothic and Baroque tapestries, Italian paintings of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, American landscape paintings of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries, and Japanese prints. The collection is displayed on a rotating basis in the Museum's galleries on the ground floor. In keeping with the teaching mission of a university museum, accompanying text explains the significance of each work in its historical context and addresses questions from the current scholarship. The Museum maintains an active special exhibition program, bringing outstanding works from around the world to Chestnut Hill. The Museum also contains a Micro Gallery, an innovative computer system which visitors to the Museum may use to display information and images of works in the permanent collection, as well as photographs of related works. The Museum organizes public lectures, symposia, workshops, film series, and gallery tours in concert with current exhibitions.

Information Technology

Information Technology manages Boston College's computing, communications, and electronic information resources. It provides leadership in shaping technology plans and strategies to support the mission and goals of the University. Boston College's campus technology environment is a highly integrated voice, data, and cable television network with high speed connections to all classrooms, offices, and residence hall rooms. The University's network infrastructure is currently being enhanced to double the speed of its connection to the Internet, improve its capacity to intelligently and selectively pass or deny access to network resources, and provide better support for off campus users accessing the network through internet service providers or the University's modem pool. Information Technology has a staff of approximately 140 employees and has recently reorganized and expanded to deal more effectively with the challenges of new technologies and customer needs. The new organization focuses on rapid implementation of internet, intranet, and extranet applications on an expanding and evolving network computing infrastructure.
