Introduction to Our Approach: Employment Systems and Levers for Change

Work Equity at Boston College has prepared a toolkit to help employers strengthen the equity of employment systems in their workplace.

As indicated in Figure 1, we have elected 10 employment systems for the toolkit. This Toolkit focuses on the equity of the Recruitment and Hiring System.

Recruitment and hiring efforts:

both formal and informal practices related to determining job announcements, creating of application, selecting applicants for interview, and making job offers.

We recognize that organizations have access to a range of mechanisms that have the potential to address some of the root causes of inequities embedded in organizations' employment systems. We refer to these mechanisms as Levers for Change. (See Figure 1.)

We consider Levers for Change to be different ways that your organization can strengthen the equity of your Recruitment and Hiring System.

We define the following definitions of the Leve for Change:

Policies

Formal (typically written) policies that establish expectations for various processes, including the equity of employment systems, such as policies that govern recruitment and hiring.

Practices

Written or unwritten specification of steps used to complete tasks, including activities that could affect the equity of employment systems, such as “best practices” related to the supervision of employees.

Planning and Evaluation

Planning, data collection and interpretation of information related to the equity of employment systems, such as conducting “audits” of compensation.

Assignment of Roles and Accountabilities

Designation of one (or more) person(s) who is accountable for Diversity-Equity-Inclusion (DEI) activities related to the equity of one (or more) employment system(s), such as the selection of an HR person to assess the equity of annual employee performances.

Workplace Culture

Values and principles espoused by the organization, including values related to Diversity-Equity-Inclusion, such as statements by top managers about the importance of workforce diversity for innovation.

Workplace Climate

Employees’ sense of their everyday work experiences, particularly experiences that affect perceptions of inclusion (that is, a sense of: belonging to the organization, being treated with respect, etc.), such as being invited to offer opinions about decisions that affect employees’ jobs.

Communications

Access to information, including information about the equity of employment systems, such as information about possible promotion opportunities.

We will evaluate the Leve for Change for the Recruitment and Hiring System in Sep 3 and 4 of this

Steps of Your Recruitment and Hiring System Equity Initiative

The Recruitment and Hiring System Equity Toolkit is organized into 5 steps. (See Figure 2.)

Each of the steps in the Toolkit reflects a design thinking process:

- gathering information about the existing and opportunities (Step 1: Take the Audit),
- gaining insight about possible root causes of inequities (Step 2: Benchmark),
- gaining deeper understanding of employee experience (Step 3: Consider Variation in Experience),
- brainstorming and refining ideas for innovation in your Recruitment and Hiring System (Step 4: Generate Ideas for Innovation), and
- pilot testing (Step 5: Implement Innovation).

Roles and Responsibilities for Your Equity Assessment

It is possible that one person, for example, a department manager, might decide to look on some or all the 5 steps of the Toolkit as a goal:

1. thematically think about the equity of the Recruitment and Hiring System, and
2. generate a hypothesis about the equity of Recruitment and Hiring System and generate the proposal of opportunities of the organization.

However, organization has to make (or encourage) a commitment to innovation in DEI will probably, and it is important to engage a group of people (possibly from diverse areas of the organization) in each of the Toolkit activities.

Organizations should make decisions about assigning the following roles and responsibilities:

- Leader(s) of Your Recruitment and Hiring System Equity Initiative: Typically, the Leader will:
  - invite/elect people to participate in the Recruitment and Hiring System Equity Initiative,
  - manage the project (for example, scheduling meetings and preparing materials),
  - monitor progress with the help of the Toolkit, and
  - engage communication related to the Equity Initiative as prepared and distributed to the appropriate audience.
- Members of Your Equity Initiative Committee: The Leader(s) of the Equity Initiative might decide to invite the members of an existing committee (such as a Diversity-Equity-Inclusion Committee) to participate in the Equity Initiative. In some situations, however, it might be necessary for the Leader(s) to expand the membership of an existing committee or form an entirely new task force or committee. The members of the committee should have diverse perspectives and experience that could be relevant to the work.
- Stakeholders in Your Equity Initiative: The Leader(s) of the Equity Initiative might periodically consult with and/or get feedback from employees at the organization to assess and/or discuss on the Equity Initiative Committee. For example, peers might have interesting perspectives about the strengths and weaknesses of different aspects of the organization's Recruitment and Hiring System.
- Top Managers at Your Organization: It will be the responsibility of top management to communicate their support for the Recruitment and Hiring System Equity Initiative and to articulate how the workplace aligns with the business goals and strategies.

The Process

Organizations might complete the help sheet as a whole.

Decision:

The Equity Initiative Leader(s) can use Worksheet #1 (next page) to clarify a agenda for the completion of each step. This worksheet should be reviewed by the Equity Initiative Committee and adjustments should be made, as needed.
